WALL STREET MARKET.

INDICATIONS THAT THE YEAR'S BUSINESS WILL CLOSE STRONG

A Quiet Tip on What to Buy and How to Purchase it—Present Condition on the Extra-Pacific-European Cray—How American Stock Handling.

New York, Dec. 22.—The stock market remains strong and there are indications that when the settlement of the year's account is concluded and individual and interest due on the first of the year we expect a great deal of money will come into Wall street, and prior to which time we will have another advance. It is well to say that Wall street dreams a more prospective improvement in the business of the country than the public does at the present time. What we dread is that it reads on the stocks when they anticipate an improvement in railroad receipts.

It is much easier and safer, for instance, to buy Georgia coal stocks, or South western securities if you have reason to believe that wheat, coal, iron or cotton is likely to be dominant in advancing prices than to buy the steel itself. If you may the latter you have to pay storage, insurance, carrying charges and lots of other things, but if you buy the stocks representing either of these you have to pay nothing, but the commission to the broker. This is the true meaning of Wall street discounting anything.

The speculator who has got loose from the stock market, probably the greatest portion of our securities, than in the produce or goods themselves. Thus until the actual improvement in business sets in its indications will be found only in the price of stocks, and not in the amount of money in circulation.

One of the features of the past week was the heavy drop in the Texas Pacific securities and the rise in Kansas & Texas. The majority of speculators always buy Texas and Texas is the only state in the Union bound to want a sum in arrears, but the west showed that they are not birds of a feather.

Followers of Gould and Connor always said that a big difference would be between the two companies in their way of doing business.

In fact, although Gould had to put a heavy load on Kansas & Texas bound both he and Connor had the market for themselves taken out of their hands by Illinois, millionaire on the border of Chicago, an uncle of the Hon. Mr. Michael Farnie, who died recently over his son George.

It is now reported that the recent visit of Connor to Chicago was to make arrangements with the Hon. Mr. Hooper in regard to Kansas & Texas. But Connor says of those men who make their success so great, that no one can ever find out what they have been made. Although Kansas & Texas is sure to go up, it is not safe to buy it now, and it will go up before our time.

In regard to the lead in the Texas Pacific securities a very conservative broker and one who knows the cost of the country thoroughly well, said:

"You can get a good amount of company news directly from the facts connected with the Texas Pacific railway which played an important part in the war's transactions. It takes over 80 per cent of their receipts, and they have several million dollars of money to have sent out to road to keep it up to a decent standard.

The Rio Grande division will become a third or a fourth mortgage or will have to be reduced to one-half or perhaps one-third of the nominal amount, both principal and interest."

"They are selling to-day at about 45, while the lead grand total which in the chance of eventually sharing in the profits of the successful transaction.

But the cost of the leads in Texas is still about $38. Either the fortunes are too dear or the latter too cheap. In my opinion the Rio Grande ought to be sold at $10 while the grand total should slowly increase to $15, and the Rio Grande should be taken up in the sixties as soon as the reorganization is effected."

It is reported that the $40,000,000 indebtedness of the Texas Pacific, which includes the San Joaquin and California, who are also large owners of a large portion of the stock, so that New York has an equal interest in the concern except in the general influence which it exerts in the management of the company.

The San Joaquin and California are the two largest owners of a large portion of the stock, so that New York has an equal interest in the concern except in the general influence which it exerts in the management of the company.

The English credit authorities are increasing to an extent which appears alarming to some of the conservative German bankers. Thus the Frankfurter Zeitung says that the leading English credit authorities are in favor of the Rio Grande, meaning without doubt the Bank of England, and the London and Liverpool banks, and others, who are engaged in the same business on the Pacific coast have collected amounts of money engaged in London in American securities, and that the movement is fast spreading to Frankfort and Berlin.

The English credit authorities are said to be a very conservative body, for although a great deal of their fellow citizens' money is known to be invested in American securities, they have so far refused to do the same, and the English credit authorities are at the exchange.

The Weekly Star of New York, owned and edited by Hon. William Dorsheimer, late a member of Congress from that State, is certainly one of the best papers that comes to us from the metropolis of the country. It is attractive in form and make-up, and is full of meaty matter. It is devoted to the principles of the Democratic party, and at the subscription price, $12 per annum, no one can afford to take it.

The Harrisburg Democrat says: Captain P. B. Thompson, Sr., claims that he did something recently that no man ever did before. He sent his servant to the pens where they were slaughtering turkeys and secured the brains of one thousand two hundred turkeys, dining and supping from this rare dish. The Captain says that there is no delicacy equal to it, not being excelled even by the royal dish with the Roman-peacock tongues.

The attention of our readers is called to the advertisement in another column of Mr. C. S. Miner, of an excellent farm for sale near Helena. Its location is one of the best in the county, bordering on two turnpikes, and lying near the Kentucky Central Railroad. It contains one hundred and one acres, well watered, and will make an excellent home. Ten acres of it is timber land, forty-five acres is in wheat, and there are forty acres of fine tobacco land. It will be offered at a public auction Saturday, January 2, 1886.

Why can't foolish young people find something besides pistols to amuse themselves with? Down in a Tennessee town the other day a fellow playfully pointed a pistol at his girl with the remark that he'd show her how a young man once killed his sweetheart. The next instant an explosion followed and the girl—but sixteen years old, in the bloom of youth—fell at his feet a corpse, a bullet having plowed its way through her brain. Of course he "didn't know it was loaded." If he had turned and blown his own brains out, the story would have been complete and the world would have had one less fool to deal with.

MONUMENTAL.

News From the Fair and Bazaar.

The attendance at the Monumental and Bazaar continues good. The crowd there night shows that the interest in the enterprise is increasing every day. The indications are that the "fondest hopes" of the managers will be realized before this week is gone. The hall has been rearranged since last Saturday night, and now looks more attractive than ever. The large booth provided over by the Women's Relief Corps now occupies the space in the center of the hall. It is handsomely decorated with a profusion of artificial flowers, evergreens, boughs, and the national colors. The fine set of furniture and the other articles that are to be disposed of at the grand raffle occupy the front part of the hall, and at the rear end may be found the oyster and ice cream saloons. The stage is in "ship shape" and moving along nicely. All the management want to see a good big crowd every night from now on. Our citizens will only consider the object of the enterprise they will turn out and do all they can for the cause.

Professor J. C. Kinney, Superintendent of the High School, assisted by Misses Annie Knox and Florence Wilson, kindly consented to give an eloquent entertainment at the Hall-to-morrow (Wednesday) night, at which time the following programme will be rendered: "Hawthorne's Introduction to the Players"; "Shakespeare"; "Paul Revere's Ride"; "Longfellow, Wrecker of the Whales"; "Longfellow, Miss Wilson"; "The Wolves"; "T. T. Townebridge, Professor Kinney"; "Lady Clare"; "Tennyson"; "Sir Keppel"; "The Old Squire"; "Professor Kinney"; "Ruth on the Road"; "Costes Kinney, Professor Kinney".

The price of admission will remain the same—ten cents.

NOTES.

The attendance last night was better than ever.

The candidate has made his appearance. The new arrangement of the booths is a big improvement.

The oyster saloon enjoyed a big "boom" last night.

The Uniform Rank of Oddfellows, to the number of twenty-four or twenty-five, took in the fair last night in a body. They presented a handsome appearance, dressed out in their new uniforms. They all took oysters, and the only complaint heard from them was that the charges were too reasonable.

The management want it expressly understood that there is no "going" allowed at the hall. Visitors are charged no more for what they get than they would be elsewhere. Oysters are served in just as elegant style and for reasonable rates as they can be obtained anywhere. Everything is square.

Her Husband Petitioning for a Divorce and for the Custody of Their Child.

The Cincinnati Enquirer, of the 19th instant, says: "Another chapter in the history of Mrs. Ollie Smith came to light yesterday by the filing of a divorce. Mrs. Smith has received so much newspaper notoriety recently that her name has become familiar with the reading public.

The style of the suit is Oliver Smith against Lizzie Smith, and the suit was filed in the Chancery Court at Covington by Hallam & Myers, who are attorneys for the plaintiff.

"The plaintiff says in his petition that they were married in the year 1878, and they have one child, a girl two years of age. He then tells what a kind and affectionate husband he has been, always providing for his wife, and this information is followed by the statement concerning the utter disregard the defendant had for the marital vow. Mr. Smith alleges that his wife has been guilty of adultery not only in Ohio, but in the dark and bloody grounds of Kentucky. He says that on the 13th day of November, 1885, the defendant, in company with Charles Jones, went to the city of Louisville, and in the Fifth Avenue Hotel registered as C. W. Jones and wife, of Indianapolis, Indiana." He also alleges that she has committed adultery with Charley Jones and other men at divers places in Cincinnati unknown to him. One of the men, it is said, is a well-known Vine street status. The plaintiff asks for a divorce and the custody of the child. The defendant has not been served yet with the notice.

WHY Take a Goat in His.
(For Korki Capital)

About the most characteristic boy's "bistro" we have seen for a long time was received this week by Mr. J. Dixter Kelso, of the Capitol running room, from his little son George, now at school in Mayville. George is just out of his first reader, and this is about his first industrious attempt with us, I assure him. The letter is in answer to one asking him what he wanted for a Christmas present, and we have borrowed it from his illustrious sire without disclosing that it was for the purpose of publication.

It reads: Dec. 18, 1885.
Mr. Dixter Kelso,
Mayville, N.Y.
Sir—
I have not a goat, so I can't give you any present I want the bistro sent me. I can spend it for a boy if you say so. I am a good boy, and I am under suspicion of being a bad boy by persons in the neighborhood.

Yours truly,
George T. Kelso.
